Are Taking Advantage of Opportunity Offered Through War Finance Corporation

$252,000 LOANED TO DATE

Applications Rolling Into Minneapolis Office of Agency Formed to Aid Agriculture

A total of $252,000 has been loaned to banks in North Dakota to date by the War Finance Corporation to assist agriculture, and applications are on hand and being examined in the Minneapolis office of the Agricultural Loan Agency for much a larger amount according to J. L. Bell of Bismarck, member of the North Dakota committee.

A great many inquiries have been received from banks in the western part of the state, who have been given forms and are making plans to avail themselves for the benefit of their communities for loans Mr. Bell said. He predicted the Minneapolis office soon would be swamped with applications. He said banks were endeavoring to the utmost to comply with the requirements.

North Dakota is thus far somewhat behind other states in the amount of loans received and in getting applications. In many banks have been given forms but those that have not may get them by applying to M. O. Granger, secretary of the Agricultural Loan Agency War Finance Corporation, Equipment building, Minneapolis, Mr. Bell said.

To Hold Meeting.
The North Dakota Bankers' Association to aid member banks, has decided H. L. Wilson of Fargo to represent that association in Minneapolis and aid North Dakota in getting her proper share of the government money available. E. J. Weyer state chairman has called a meeting for Fargo on Thursday. Mr. Wilson will be there and will conduct a school of instruction. There are many requirements laid down by the War Finance Corporation in making the loans.

Mr. Bell also announced that the War Finance office at Washington is maturing plans for making large-sized loans to corporations to be formed for the purpose of taking care of the livestock industry in western states aside from such assistance as will be rendered through the banks. The corporation also will assist firms which export farm products to foreign countries.

The snowfall in Bismarck amounted to about 2 1/2 inches.

SOUTHWEST COUNTIES SET EXAMPLE FOR REST OF STATE IN COOPERATION

Answer to Exaggerated and Untrue Stories is Display of Courage, Optimism and Foresightedness on the Part of Business Men and Farmers—Big Get-together Meeting Held in Bowman.

Southwestern North Dakota is setting an example for the rest of the state in the promotion of neighborliness, optimism and foresightedness in spite of exaggerated and pessimistic reports the leading citizens of this section of the state already have been endeavoring toward the future and have quietly gone to work on a broad program of community development which already has achieved results.

Bismarck men and others who have traveled through the southwestern counties have returned to this section imbued with the spirit of cooperation and optimism reflected in Bowman. H. L. Mott and other towns. They bring predictions that the program now under way will mean a development of that section of the state much more rapidly than many other sections and more rapidly than anyone had expected.

Bowman citizens held a get-together meeting last Friday night. G. N. Keniston of this city who was present says there were 200 people in the town. A big feed preceded an evening's entertainment at dances. There were two different halls. There were places for 500 people at the big table and it was refilled again and again. Everybody seemed to have a good time and farmers in overall had just as much fun as someone dressed in the latest style of tall clothes. Citizens of Bowman plan to have monthly dances and get-together meetings during the winter, and the same thing is planned at Hettinger.

They Are Striking.
Many people have gone into the southwestern part of the state, as in other sections of this and other states, and have moved on after a year or so. F. E. Phelan, president of the First National Bank of Bowman, and A. G. Newman of the First National at Hettinger, told Mr. Keniston that there are fewer people leaving the country this year than ever. The answer of the people of this section to stories of caravans who are moving out is that they are planning good times during the winter and for the extension of dairying and farming next spring and summer.

Oleth Olson, former state treasurer, who traveled through Bowman, Slope, Adams, Hettinger and Stark counties some days ago declared that there was more optimism among the people there than in Bismarck. Most of the farmers have cows which they are milking some went into the northern part of the state to aid in threshing and others have been working on the roads or in other ways making money he said. Merchants are cooperating to the best of their ability he said and with the oil fever catching hold there is much activity in many towns. He said he knew of only one family that had moved out, this being due to illness of a member of the family.

In some counties while the grain crop failed there is plenty of hay and there is considerable corn for feed. One farmer bought a carload of shelled corn to feed to pigs this winter. Many others have bought good dairy cows.

Building Good Roads

There is a piece of road construction between Flasher and Carson which is attracting much attention. It is a federal aid project well drained, fenced smooth. Cars can travel at a high rate of speed over it. So much favorable comment has resulted that there is much agitation to promote a great deal of work on roads during the winter to provide employment. Many harmful stories have gone out also to southwestern North Dakota among them that the Red Cross has sent much aid to the section. Mr. Keniston was at a meeting of the Red Cross in Hettinger. One widow had been helped by the Red Cross. There had been no applications to the county poor fund there and but two applications in Adams county while in other communities of the state particularly in cities scores of persons are being aided and many helped even in normal times.

Conditions in the southwestern counties reflect the lack of good crops. In the opinion of some residents of the section there will be a wonderful increase in dairying and cattle raising in the next few years and southwest North Dakota with her program of cooperation among business people and farmers will come back faster than any section of the northwest.

PROSPERITY IS MAGNET NEEDED ASSERTS WORST

Commissioner of Immigration Urges That Diversified Farming Be Taken Up

SEES SUCCESS IN DAIRYING

Cites Experiences of Farmers in New Salem Circuit as Means of Inducing Others

Assured prosperity on the part of farmers now living here will prove to be more potent for the encouragement of immigration than all the new-paper and bureau advertising that can be used declared Commissioner of Immigration John H. Worst today. Moreover, it has been demonstrated over and over again that all-grain farming in the western two-thirds of the state does not insure prosperity. It is even questionable if all-grain farming in any part of this or any other state will insure all grain growing spells and exhaustion ultimately and the farmer who does not leave for his son a better farm than he received from his father.

The best breeding circuits that have been established in the state by dairy farmers on the other hand does point the way to sure prosperity without robbing the soil of its fertility. In fact farms so managed become more productive from year to year.

Why should not many more such breeding circuits be organized in every county in the state?

"It is not necessary, however, for farmers generally to engage too exclusively in the dairy business. Some may do so to advantage but a very large number should keep a sufficient number of cows to insure a steady income that will meet the ordinary family expenses. Other kinds of livestock such as pigs and beef animals even sheep can be kept to advantage and much roughage and low grade grain that would otherwise be wasted, made profitable.

Corn Crops Good.
"Notwithstanding the lack of moisture over a considerable portion of the state during the past four years, corn has made a good crop where ever given sufficient cultivation. Sweet clover as a pasture crop has also proved successful and farmers who planted plenty of corn and sweet clover and are provided with silos and cows are making but little complaint about hard times. Not so, the grain farmer. With the latter, many are on the verge of bankruptcy.

"It would seem wise therefore for the farmers to organize dairy circuits similar to the New Salem circuit and do it now. During the winter months meetings can be held and plans perfected and such experts as Max Morgan invited to explain how the cows can be secured. Although money is scarce I understand that credit can be had for the purchase of cows where farmers give evidence of their ability to properly care for them.

Need Diversified Farming.
"When we demonstrate that farmers can prosper in this state by means of diversified farming there will be but little difficulty to induce farmers from other states to settle here and put under cultivation millions of our now unused acres."

FEDERAL COURT DISMISSES SUIT ON CAPPER BILL

REGULATES EXCHANGES

Capper-Tincher Bill Would Become Effective December 1

Chicago, Nov. 7.—A suit for an injunction against the United States government on the constitutionality of the Capper-Tincher grain futures trading act was dismissed for want of equity by Judge K. M. Landis today. A restraining order valid for two weeks was entered by the court to permit carrying the case to the supreme court.

The bill questioning the constitutionality of the future trading act was filed by John Hill Jr., a member of the Chicago Board of Trade on Oct. 25 and it is the first suit to test the law.

It is claimed that the act is in violation of the constitution of the United States, said Mr. Hill and it will be taken to the U. S. Supreme Court with the least possible delay.

Restoring his argument against the act Mr. Hill said it would follow these lines:

That the future trading act deprives the members of the board of trade of their property without due process of law in the compulsory admission to membership on the board of representatives of cooperative associations will impair the value of all memberships on the board.

That it attempts to regulate commerce of a purely interstate character between persons within the state of Illinois whereas congress has no right to interfere with or regulate business that is not interstate in its character.

That it interferes with the right of the state of Illinois to provide for and regulate the maintenance of a grain exchange within its borders upon which is conducted the making of contracts which are merely intrastate transactions.

Attacks Coop Privilege.
That it gives to farmers cooperative associations and their representatives the right to share in and enjoy the use of private estate owned by the board (a private corporation) without giving the board any compensation therefor and that it attempts to take the private property of the board for public use without giving any compensation therefor to the owners.

That the act imposes a tax not intended either to pay the debts or provide for the common defense or general welfare of the United States, but for the purpose only of regulating grain exchanges and of benefiting the producers of grain at the expense of members of the grain exchanges, in other words it is class legislation.

That the act authorizes unreasonable searches of the secretary of Agriculture respecting books and papers which do not relate to any property upon which a tax is imposed nor to any transaction within the commerce power of congress.

That it deprives members of grain exchanges of the right to contract for the purchase of grain for future delivery as fully as owners, growers, or growers' associations are permitted by the law to contract.

EXPLAINS STATE HAIL INSURANCE WORK THIS YEAR

Manager of Department Details What Has Been Done in the Season of 1921

LOSSES HEAVIER THAN 1920

First Year in Which Additional Insurance Was Permitted Under Law

By Martin S. Hazen (Department Manager)

The law for the indemnity tax was made on March 27th after enough inquiries had been gathered, and the department made of an amount of indemnity received. As was expected, the hail tax comes a good deal lighter this year on account of the increased number of losses. In 1920 the Department had between twelve and thirteen thousand claims for indemnity. In 1921, fourteen thousand four hundred (14,400) claims and in 1922, over twenty one thousand (21,000) or an increase of six thousand six hundred (6,600) claims. The average amount allowed per claim is somewhat smaller this year than it was in 1920. However, with such an enormous increase in number of losses, the total indemnity necessarily must be greater. It was therefore found necessary to levy an indemnity average tax of 44 cents per acre for $7,000 per acre protection, and 49 cents per acre for $7,500 an acre additional protection or 44 cents per acre for the $10,000 per acre insurance. This, in addition to the 3 cent per acre tax paid on all taxable land in the State, excepting lands within the platted portion of any incorporated city, village or town, and tax free lands such as Indian Lands and Homestead Lands (not patented). The total increase will thus be seen to be 19 cents per acre, which, of course, is quite an amount, but after all the Premium for the insurance is only 63 per cent and it is after all only a matter of what this rate is compared with whether it is high or low. We understand that the Private Hail Insurance Companies are not making much money this year on the rates they charge which are all the way from 7 to 12 per cent, depending on the kind of the State and what kind of claim. The only mutual Hail Insurance Company in the State (besides the State Hail Fund), is the Alliance Hail Association of Jamestown, and their rates, we are informed, are this year over 12 per cent. Nobody regrets more than the management of the Hail Insurance Department that it was necessary to increase the Hail Indemnity Tax, but under all the premium is in certain cases less than one-half of what the same protection could be had for in any other company, so there is no reason to be pessimistic about it. We really do believe this has been an exceptionally severe hail season, and that next year a 25 cents levy will prove sufficient, as it did in 1920 and 1921.

The fact that the last legislative assembly made a provision whereby it is made possible to create a surplus within the Hail Insurance Fund in order to pay losses more promptly promises to be a great boon as the only serious drawback has been the inability to pay losses promptly. The 3 cent flat tax will now for five years, 1921-1925 inclusive, be put into a surplus fund. This, by the way is an additional reason why the levy had to be made higher this year as in 1919 and 1920 the $550,000.00 derived from the 3 cent tax was used for paying losses direct whereas, now the Hail Indemnity Tax alone must pay for all the indemnity. This alone makes for an increase of approximately 7 cents per acre. It should be borne in mind, however, that after the Hail Insurance Fund has once been built up, the fact that indemnity for all losses will then be paid in the fall, will more than make up for the sacrifice the 3 cent flat tax for five years as after 1925, the 3 cent tax will be discontinued.

Certifying Losses

The Department is now certifying the losses and for the following counties the lists are completed and will be in the State Auditor's office by November 3rd: Adams, Barnes, Benson, Billings, Bottineau, Bowman, Burleigh, Burke and Cass, and warrants will be sent out about the first of December, if not before, not only for the above named counties, but for every county in the state, if possible. Warrants draw interest at 6 per cent from December 1st till they are paid for payment by the State Treasurer. The State Treasurer handles the Hail Insurance Fund, and makes payments on warrants drawn by the State Auditor. From reports, it appears that some people in the State are under the impression that the Hail Department is responsible for the non-payment of the outstanding Hail Warrants. The fact is that nobody can help it. The County Treasurers send to the State Treasurer all Hail Taxes collected for the month, and the State Treasurer issues for payment warrants to the extent of such collections. If all the Hail Taxes had been paid in the State Treasurer would be in position to pay in every case, but unfortunately, as is the case, many of the taxes have not been paid. We understand that the warrants for Logan County, the last one issued, this is up to date and is dated Nov. 10, 1922.

The new Hail Law Section has been organized. The Hail Taxes to be collected from the farmers, and the warrants to be issued, will be handled by this section.

NO DISARMAMENT

While the world talks about throwing its weapons away, girls of Barnard College are resurrecting an ancient implement of warfare. But bows and arrows are used in innocent archery contests and unlike William Tell, they shoot at inanimate targets. Miss Helen LaFarge is an adept archer.

for Hail Tax must first be made. The Department will be glad to answer inquiries regarding amounts deducted, but as there are thousands of claims we trust everybody will try to figure out himself what the amounts to before writing the Department about it.

There is no doubt that the assessors have done very much better work this year in listing the lands for Hail Insurance. However, we have found a few cases again this year where land was not listed according to law, and on which claims for indemnity had been filed. In such cases the Department has no right to pay indemnity according to the new law and opinion of the Supreme Court.

Items of Expense

The greatest item of expense for the Department is naturally the adjusting of losses. The cost per adjustment this year will be between $141-$145, this is a slight decrease from last year's cost and about half of what it is generally considered to cost the private companies. The rate of expense to receipts will be about 28 per cent and of approved losses, 24 per cent. When it is generally conceded that the expense of private insurance companies run between 25 per cent and 40 per cent and our expenses are less than 1 per cent, we leave it to the courts to judge if money can be saved by a big Mutual, like the State Hail Insurance.

The Counties that suffered heaviest losses this season were, Williams, with over 1,600 losses and an indemnity of $450,000; Dunn, with over 1,200 losses and indemnity of $400,000; Richland County had least hail, only 18 losses, with $3,500.00 indemnity.

The following list of losses for each County is as correct as it is possible to get it at this time, but as it is expected that some claims will be cancelled, on account of land not being insured, or withdrawn, the total indemnity will be somewhat less than these figures show:

County	Losses	Indemnity

Number of acres insured with the Department this year was 114,422,822, for $7,000 an acre protection and 1,737,050.65 for $7,500 additional. The total risk carried by the Department was thus $82,249,229.77, which, we believe, is about six times greater than that carried by all the private companies together doing hail business in the State this year.

ADVISES CARE FOR BATTERIES

Local Vesta Dealer Advises Auto Owners

Car owners have found that it pays to give their battery special care during the winter months while their car is laid up.

The common method is to leave the battery at the local station, request being kept the battery watered and put it on charge from time to time, storing in the meanwhile at a safe temperature. The advantage of this method is that the battery is always ready at a moment's notice, but inasmuch as every storage battery is an electrochemical combination, a certain amount of chemical action is always present under these conditions, and the life of the battery is somewhat shortened.

A far better method, according to Mr. Churchill, of the Lahr Motor Sales Co. is to open the battery, take out the plates and store them dry.

All chemical action is thereby suspended and the battery is ready for many new cycles of life when it is reassembled in the spring. With this dry storage method, the battery can be forgotten during the winter.

When it is reassembled, new separators are used, but the slight additional cost is more than made up by the longer service received from the battery.

Owners should remember, when they have their batteries in dry storage, to give the service station a few days notice in advance of the time they will want their batteries. This will give the service station ample time to reassemble the battery, and thus have it ready at the proper time without any inconvenience to the owner.

AT THE REX MONDAY

An excellent program is being arranged for Monday and Tuesday. The musical comedy, presented by the Pathway Girls, is a faithful version of that famous farce "Nabob" in which the statue comes to life. In this version "Zuleka" is the Noble and the skit is brim full of good wholesome laughter. It has the atmosphere of the Libyan and Theban deserts. Zuleka is the statue, the pride of an ardent collector of nude statuary. The collector sleeps and in his sleep the statue comes to life. The wife appears, so Zuleka in her abbreviated costume and becomes engaged. The plot is full of just such situations. When they measure Zuleka for a modern dress you will scream. When the collector attempts to explain—oh, well, it is extremely funny. Gorgeous costumes, interspersed with appropriate songs and Egyptian dances. All in all a dandy tableau.

LEGION COMMITTEE CONFIDENT ALL CITIZENS WILL JOIN IN TRIBUTE

Confidence that all of the people of Bismarck will join in both the spirit and the act of the two-minute silent tribute to be paid on Armistice Day at the time the body of an unknown American soldier killed in the World War is laid to rest in Arlington cemetery, is expressed by the American Legion committee.

Following is a description of the funeral ceremony which will be held in Arlington cemetery on Armistice Day:

Washington. The most impressive and solemn military funeral in the history of the United States will be held in Washington and at Arlington cemetery, November 11, the third anniversary of the signing of the armistice. This funeral ceremony will mark the burial of an unidentified enlisted man, one of the 4,765,971 who served in the United States armed forces during the World War.

Body Must Be Unknown

The quartermaster general of the United States army is charged directly with the responsibility of selecting the body from among the unidentified American dead in France. Under orders of the war department, the selection must be made so as to make any possibility of future identification as to the name, rank, organization or service of the unknown dead, or the soldier's identity, will be lost.

At that point it will be taken charge by a team of soldiers of the army and transported to the United States capital and placed in the Washington navy yard. Here it will be kept in a vault until the body is received by a major general, who will be in charge of the ceremony.

Impressive Military Tribute

At the funeral, the body will be placed in a casket and carried to the Arlington cemetery. The funeral will be held at 11 o'clock, and the body will be laid to rest in the Arlington cemetery. The funeral will be held at 11 o'clock, and the body will be laid to rest in the Arlington cemetery.

Some Counties Complete War History Work

War history work is rapidly forming and being completed in North Dakota, Benson county, under the leadership of Mrs. Beattie Richmond plans to have their work finished by Armistice Day.

A letter received by the chairman of the Burleigh county work, Mrs. Robert Orr, from Mrs. Amidon of Fargo a member of the state committee gives many interesting details of work being done in the different counties of the state.

Mrs. Porterville of Griggs county believes that their county can claim the honor of the most boys in the service from one family. Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Balkan had five sons in the service.

In Mrs. Amidon's letter she says: "Mrs. Orr, of Burleigh county, has completed a very excellent organization. She has excellent committee chairmen on no-militant and civilian war organizations; another for the collection of letters, diaries, photographs and trophies; a third for newspaper files, and a fourth for publicity. With the work so well organized it is certain that Burleigh county will do excellent work."

Twenty-six counties have sent in their Red Cross History. It is expected that more counties will be heard from soon.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

FATHER AND SON
Nearly every elderly man, now living, looks back to his boyhood and recalls that his father was strict, solemn and stern. In those days, children usually kept in awe of their fathers—ruled by fear.

That system, now changed, had its advantages. When father said something, he meant it. When he exchanged confidences with his son, he spoke words of wisdom. To son, father was an oracle, a man of wisdom, a figure mighty and with a peculiar atmosphere of mystery.

Times have changed. Children in our day are ruled more by reasoning and by guidance than by fear of father and the wood-shed's paddles.

But, in the change, childhood has lost something of great value—the intimacy of proper attention by father to son.

Fathers in 1921 are too busy. Telephone, telegraph, fast mails and express trains, along with a growing intricacy of civilization's economic machine kept father's mind on many parts of the country or other countries, instead of concentrated near home. Son suffers by neglect.

In the endless procession of special weeks comes one really worth while—Father-and-Son Week, now being observed. Every father during this week should take time to cultivate his son's confidence, take a special interest in son's activities, and impart words of wisdom. While we are at it, it would be a good idea to make every week Father-and-Son Week.

YOUR SON

Every father, as soon as the doctor announces that "it's a boy," begins nursing a hope that son will follow in father's footsteps.

It is a great comfort, in old age, for John Blank to see "John Blank & Sons" nailed over the door of his shop. It means that the institution which father toiled so hard to build up will live on after his death.

A machinist may earnestly want his son to "get an education and have a better chance," but deep down in his heart he knows that he would be extremely happy if son became the finest tool maker in the world.

No doubt Thomas Lincoln, poor farmer, hoped his son would become a rich farmer. Instead, Abraham Lincoln became president.

Lawyer John Adams probably urged his son, who became a president, to study law.

So on, all through his boyhood, is eagerly watched by father to see if he displays any of the particular brand of ability that pa turned into a means of livelihood.

For 101 years the Rev. Andrew Broadus has occupied the pulpit of the Salem Baptist church at Sparta, Vt. The first Andrew Broadus, preaching in this church from 1820 until his death in 1848, was succeeded by his son, another Andrew Broadus. In turn, his son inherited the pulpit.

Now there is a fourth Andrew Broadus, son of the present pastor. So far, he has not showed much inclination to take up the work when his father retires from the ministry.

You would have to travel a good many days to find a similar instance of heredity.

Many businesses, built up by father and sons years ago, are still operating under the old firm name. But control of the business has passed into the hands of outsiders, frequently the family not being represented at all.

It may be disappointing to a father for his son to turn to a totally different line of work. But, after all, it is a wise provision of the scheme of things.

If son always followed father in the same business or line of work, the world would run in a rut. Many lines of activity would become overcrowded, one father's place being taken by three sons, later by nine grandsons, still later by 27 great-grandsons. None would be available to fill new positions that are opened yearly by new fields of activity.

The wonder of what your son will become is one of the most thrilling mysteries of your lifetime.

LUCK

Twenty thousand dollars is quite a piece of change, particularly if you are a telephone girl and win it in a lottery. That is the luck that fell to Mrs. Maria Ramirez, widow and chief operator for the telephone company at Pinar del Rio, Cuba.

A lot of folk will wonder what Maria will do with the money. Two guesses aren't needed. She has four daughters and two sons to support.

They not their mother, won the $20,000. Mothers are the same, the world over. They never get anything. Whatever comes their way belongs to the children, in advance.

PHENOMENAL

America's youngest married couple with the largest family is claimed by Hallettsville, Texas. August Dornak, 46 years old, and his wife, 44, have 18 children, all living and at home.

How would you have liked to support 18 children for the last four years, considering the cost of living? Just imagine—40 eggs for breakfast? Oh, death, where is thy sting?

QUAIL

Quail are more plentiful than for years, says the Department of Agriculture. All the way from South Carolina to Kansas, Bob White is abundant.

This is good news, for those who like quail on toast and live in states with open seasons. What a pity, though, that the brutal hunting instinct still survives in man. If we stopped killing birds for two decades, America would be a paradise of bird songs now rarely heard.

GRIND

Grace Wilshire, Los Angeles school teacher, married Luther Drake, Omaha banker. A year ago she found herself a widow with half a million dollars in cash.

She returns to Los Angeles, back to the old teaching job. A school teacher with $500,000 is the eighth wonder of the world. Observe, also, that Mrs. Drake could not keep away from work. Same with you, if you became suddenly rich. After the novelty wore off, "the old grind" would look like the Promised Land.

TRAVEL BY AIR

If you wanted to take an airplane trip from New York to Havana a year ago, the ticket cost $750 each way. Now the fare has been cut to $225. That is getting close to the $140 fare charged on the railroad and steamship route.

More important! The airplane has reduced to 19 hours' flying time the journey from New York to Havana, distance 1521 miles, which by railroad and fast boat takes four days.

The airplane is eliminating distance.

Soon you will be able to travel as cheaply by air as by rail and boat. Safer, too. Inventors will see to that.

CHAMPION

An Orpington hen laid 314 eggs in 336 days, at the Delaware College experiment station. This is said to break the world's record. Four thousand dollars has been offered for the hen, but she is not for sale.

The hen doesn't deserve much credit. It was the brains of science, clever at cross-breeding, that created that record number of eggs. Some day those brains will make every hen produce as much as this $4000 Orpington.

Most of our important activity in this generation is experimentation—making valuable discoveries for our descendants.

SAVED

Forests in the United States cover 463,000,000 acres—more than four acres for each of us. Fires have been destroying 10,000,000 acres a year. Reforestation requires a minimum of 20 years. However—

In nine months, on the Pacific coast alone, government patrols of flying rangers discovered 832 forest fires. And a fire is a real fire, in the western woods.

Government aviation is paying for itself, dollar for dollar, and yielding a profit, in that one item alone—discovering forest fires before they get beyond control.

CLEAR-HEADED LABOR

"Big Six," the New York branch of the International Typographical union, has voted to refer to arbitration its wage controversy with the employing printers. The executive council of the I. T. U. is collecting and disbursing $800,000 monthly to maintain various waning strikes, and wisely seeks to avoid further burdens of the kind.

Strike sentiment among the official circles of the railroad brotherhoods is said to be waning. The leaders are not eager to precipitate a strike of railroad men at a time when the country is full of idle workers, hunting for jobs. President Lee of the trainmen declares he will not respond to the strike vote of his organization until the other brotherhoods unite in such a movement. He has passed the buck, with full knowledge that the others will dodge it.

Shrewd labor leaders know that this is no time for strikes. Only the reckless Howats batter their heads against the stone wall of conditions in the industrial world. But even the wiser ones might consider the $800,000 indemnity burden of the I. T. U., and thereby appreciate in full the fact that strikes are losing games, not only at this particular time, but nine times out of ten.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

AT MORNING

(Florence Bonner.)
The robin with his roundelay
Dithyrambic at the break of day:
The bluebird in the peach tree swings,
And to his God a hymnal sings;
Then soon bird voices fill the air,
And blend their music rich and rare.
The sun, from out his hidden steep,
Above the hills begins to peep;
While myriads of twinkling eyes,
Grow faint and fainter in the skies;
Then, as the hilltops turn to gold,
The moon grows pale, and dim and cold.
The dew that fell thruout the night,
Now sparkles in the morning light;
And gleaming there it seems to me
Like candles on a Christmas tree;
Till seemingly with a happy shout
The sunbeams blow the candles out.

WHAT PAPERS ARE SAYING ABOUT THE RECALL

END MATRED
The political turmoil the past five years has been one of class hatred and in many communities has reached the home, creating unfriendliness between neighbor and neighbor. This should not be continued. It is a difficult matter for a community or town to advance under those conditions. It requires the coöperation and efforts of all. This applies to the town, community, county and state. It is time for the friendly ties to be united in North Dakota, and cease following theories and ideas that will not get them or the state anywhere. Those who have been led to believe that the business man is their enemy should forget it, and unite with them in getting the things worth while for the community. They will then learn that the business man is their friend and one of them.—Carson Press

A TREMENDOUS TASK
With the counting of the ballots cast in the recall election, North Dakota ceased to be a modern Utopia for socialists who have for the past five years crowded about the public troughs and showed the welfare of the state aside in their greedy desire to loot the purse of the taxpayer and use the proceeds as they desired but more especially to further their own ends.
The punishment of three of the leading state officials, however, cannot in itself bring the state out of the chaos created by laws designed by socialists for their own particular benefit. Only the earnest coöperation of all loyal citizens can do this and then it will take time.
No single class of people can place the affairs of the state onto more on a stable basis. It will take the efforts of all. More than that it will take a far longer period of time to reconstruct the state than it has taken the socialist leaders who have dominated the government for the past five years to wreck its laws and destroy its credit.—Dickinson Press

A LEAGUE PAPERS VIEW
Lest you farmers forget, especially you I. V. A. farmers, don't forget that Nestos, Johnson and Kitchen go into office pledged by their own word and the word of all the I. V. A. bankers and leaders to at once bring Cheap Money into the state. Governor-elect Nestos having stated that he had to do to bring in $15,000,000 to $40,000,000 of credit would be to strike the barren rocks of high finance with a few telephone messages and streams of money would immediately gush forth into the arid deserts of North Dakota.
All the leaders of the I. V. A. stand solemnly pledged to this, to bring in millions of Cheap Money immediately, not next year, and we hope for the sake of the hard-pressed farmers that the Iva administration can keep its voluntary pledges.
Again, lest we forget, don't forget that the great and vital grain grading and railroad rate lawsuits are now in the hands of Attorney General-elect Sorenborn Johnson. It is true that as late as last September Johnson appeared in the Federal court in Fargo and tried to have the grain grading act declared unconstitutional, but the Iva leaders have all pledged themselves that Johnson would fight harder to save these laws than ever Bill Lemke did. It is further true that Commissioner of Agriculture and Labor-elect Kitchen derided the grain grading act, but he also is pledged to enforce this act if elected.
As for the railroad rate cases, Lemke has practically won them all ready and, hence, if Johnson now loses out in the courts, no one can blame Bill Lemke, though somebody will try to do so.
Lest you forget, don't you farmers forget that the Nestos administration stands pledged to immediately get you millions of Cheap Money.—McLean County Independent

The famous Krupp works at Essen now produce one locomotive and eight freight cars daily, besides many machines and devices. It is said that a French scientist has made it possible to view old paintings as they appeared originally by means of polarized light.

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets
The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.
Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS
By Olive Barton Roberts
But Mr. Fifteen-Spine Stickleback didn't need to worry about Busy Boar-Fish coming and eating up the eggs while his wife was away, for Mr. Boar-Fish was having trouble of his own. As the Twins passed his front door, wasn't he fussing around, too, about not being able to leave his children long enough to hunt his supper. For, and isn't it funny, Mr. Boar-Fish was as much afraid of his fierce little neighbor as Mr. Stickleback was of him, neither guessing about the other. But poor, dear Mr. Goby was the worst of all. He, too, was a shore-fish and lived right along there near the others. Of course, he might have closed down his roof, and gone and hunted his wife, for Mr. Goby kept the eggs, which would soon be little gobies, tucked away in a hollow place in the sand under a great cockle-shell. But he was afraid of the pipe-fishes, long and thin, like grass-blades, for they could lift up the shell just as easy and slip their mouths under, and Mr. Goby knew it. To say nothing of Spike Star-Fish, who could pick up a cockle-shell with his suckers as easily as you could pick up a raisin cookie with your fingers. Yes, poor, dear Mr. Goby decided that he'd stay at home and starve to death before he'd let anything happen to his children. But he was cross just the same about Mrs. Goby gadding. Nancy and Nick went on to Mr.

DIVORCE EDUCATION
(By Winona Wilcox)
Can one be inoculated against divorce, as against typhoid? Doubtless, by fortifying oneself with information about the primitive instincts of man, and the impulses, the working of the human mind, the instability of human emotions, and the will as a stabilizer of human conduct. But that stuff is too high brow. It's a post-graduate course for students, "someone protests."
Not at all. A liberal education it may be, but it is of a kind not impossible to a nation which in one generation learned how to control typhoid, and malaria, and how to swat the fly. There's this difference, however. We wanted to get rid of the physical diseases and we swatted the fly with glee. We are not so anxious to rid the race of the emotional diseases the composite of which is divorce.
We can kill off the germ of divorce only if we wish to do so. The wish must set the will to work. It is not doing so at the present time. Why?
Kipling's verse puts the reason.
"These are the four that are never content, that have never been filled since the world began—
"Jaral's mouth, and the gut of the Kite, and the hands of the Ape, and the Eyes of Man."
To the unfilled eye of man is due the phenomenal growth of divorce today. On an average, more than twice as many divorces are granted to the wife as to the husband.
Now this is unpleasant information for a girl who is filling her hope chest and looking up the etiquette of weddings. But it is information which she ought to have and her lover as well.
Cupid issues no insurance policies. Proper precaution prevents many a confagration. If it were admitted before marriage that the man is twice as liable as the woman to give cause for divorce, the well disposed lover would gleefully set a watch upon emotions which might prove unstable.
And unaged persons would profitably discuss a truth as put by Chesterton. He writes of "the dance of divorce."
"If a man had a hundred houses, there would still be more houses than he had days in which to dream of them. If a man had a hundred wives there would still be more women than we could ever know."
I believe that behind the art and philosophy of our time, there is a considerable element of this unnatural hunger. They are crying for the world, and if they had it, they would want another.
What is vitally needed every where, in ethics, in politics, in politics, is choice, a creative power in the will as well as in the mind.
